

ERGO LAIN COACH

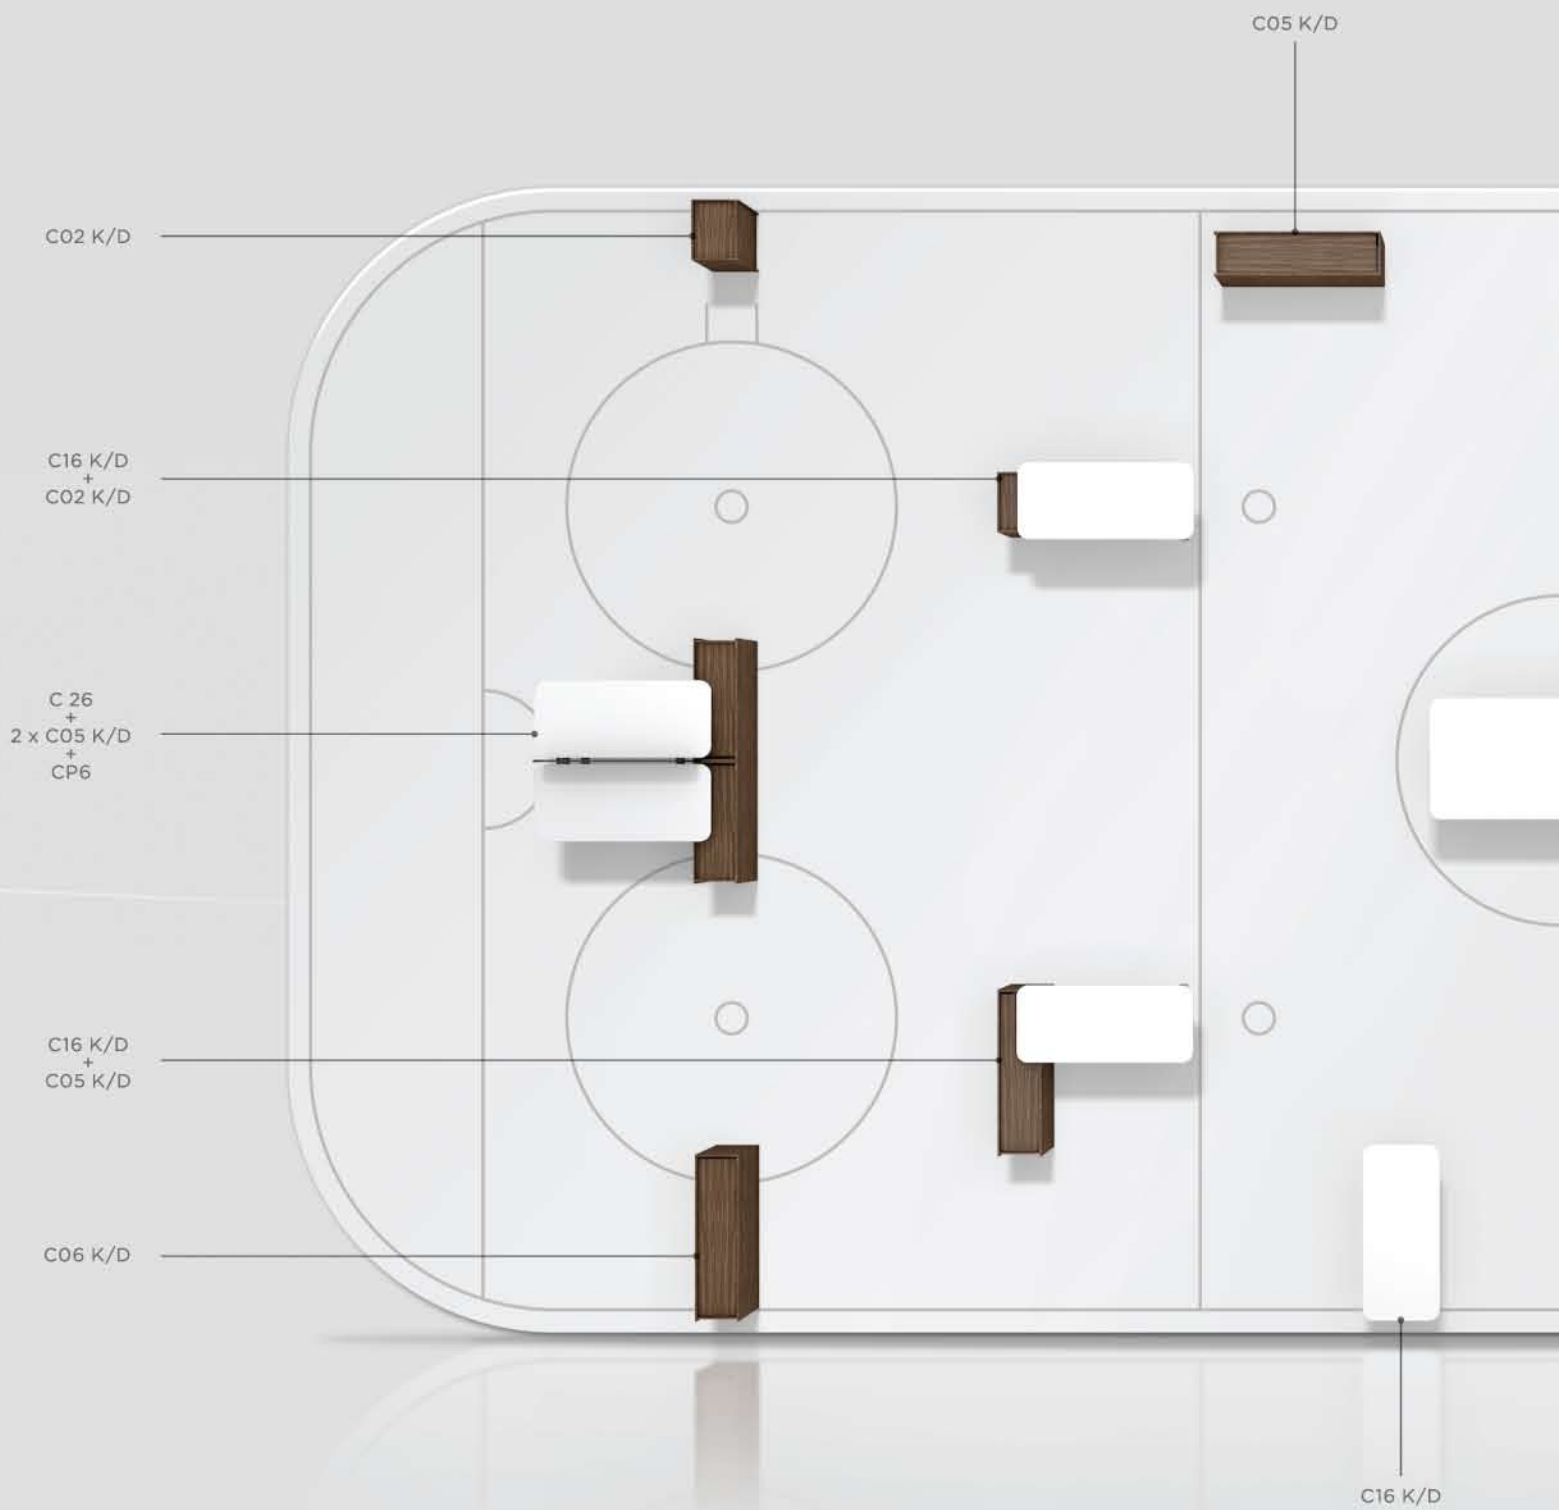

In business, as in sports, we need teams. All teams have their own leaders, executives or coaches. We recognize a leader at a glance. Team members respect him. He holds a unique position in sports or business. He is a great asset to a company.

Leader's desk should be different than the rest of team members. As the leader, he needs time for deliberation; he needs to talk to each team member personally. Most often, the leader has an own office or sits separately from other team members.

We have created the COACH furniture that highlights importance of the leader and satisfies his needs.

Best of luck to our team!
