TEAM VARIATIONS

"In business one can always achieve good individual results but what surprises everyone is great teamwork."

You can have a good team and a common goal yet more individual offices will not inspire teamwork. As time goes by, you will notice that your employees spend more time in meeting rooms, kitchens, and common areas that are conducive to interaction...

In today's economy we care a lot about good results and low costs. Organizations look for ways to reduce office space and energy consumption, so rarely do they look for expensive desks or cabinets. Furniture has to fulfill a function and reduce the costs of an organization.

Sitting at a common table stimulates teamwork. By joining tables with cabinets, we satisfy the workspace requirements and reduce the price of furniture. Such a combination of pieces of furniture meets all the demands of today's business."
